Monday, August 10
Concurrent Sessions 2
3:15 pm – 4:45 pm

(Invited Paper) Berckonomics

Organizer: Sofia B. Villas-Boas, University of California, Berkeley

Discussant: Andrew Stevens, University of Wisconsin

In August 2019, students and colleagues held a day and a half conference at the University of California at Berkeley to honor the work of AAEA Fellow, Professor Peter Berck, who died two years ago on August 10, 2018. The conference highlighted work in many of the diverse areas Professor Berck contributed to so richly. This Session is designed to give a taste of the papers presented at that memorial workshop and the kind of work that Professor Berck encouraged, and two of the papers are co authored with the late Professor Berck.

(Invited Paper) Gender Data Collection in Africa South of the Sahara

Organizer: Carlo Azzarri, International Food Policy Research Institute

Discussant: Ruth Meinzen-Dick, International Food Policy Research Institute

Moderator: Greg Symour, International Food Policy Research Institute

Valid measures of women's empowerment are essential for monitoring progress toward Sustainable Development Goal 5 (gender equality and women's empowerment). One of these measures is the integrated-Women's Empowerment in Agriculture Index (i-WEAI), a novel approach intended to prevent duplication of survey questions and reduce overall survey time. This approach allows for the collection of most WEAI indicators in existing agricultural household surveys while minimizing the number of additional questions required. Alongside measure of women's empowerment, data, information, or analysis on differential gender targeting of agricultural extension is lacking, particularly in a developing-country setting characterized by smallholder farming systems. This data limitation persists despite the need for better information system from governments and their development partners who invest considerable resources in new agricultural technologies and practices targeted to farmers with different characteristics. This session will dive deep into gender data collection in some selected countries in Africa, providing the methodological framework as well as case studies in Mali, Nigeria, Ghana, and Tanzania.
